Project Safe Neighborhoods (PSN) 9:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. Target Audience: mid-level command staff, detectives, patrol officers and prosecutors.	Gangs 1:00 a.m. - 5:00 p.m. Target Audience: mid-level command staff, detectives and patrol officers.
This course will cover three topics in one hour blocks. In the first section, Assistant U.S. Attorney Fred Battista will discuss the current status of Project Safe Neighborhoods (PSN) in Arizona and present a summary of the relevant federal firearms laws enforced under PSN. In the second hour, ATF Special Agent Jose Wall and Phoenix Police Department Detective Darrell Smith will discuss proper firearms classification and identification which can expedite firearms tracing and assist in the preparation of case reports recommending federal prosecution. In the third section, Special Agent Wall, Detective Smith and Special Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Lee will discuss the investigation and preparation of firearms cases from the perspective of preparing a case for federal prosecution.	General gang update about the current state of affairs of gangs in Arizona including recent current cases involving gang members. An overview that will include gang trends, boundaries, clothing, etc., and information on current gang development in California and Chicago and issues involving Outlaw Motorcycle gangs. The career criminal may pose one of the greatest threats to law enforcement and correctional authorities. Upon release from prison and even while incarcerated they continue their criminal behavior. They have chosen crime as a way of life. Who is the career criminal? How do they think? And what sets them apart from other offenders? Nationally, Correction Departments and County Jails are seeing repeat offenders coming back into the system at an alarming rate. Tenured law enforcement officials continue to have contact with the same offenders during their careers. The career criminal of old, who specialized in one criminal activity, is changing. Today's career criminals have access to new technology and may be involved in, or, directing others in a myriad of different criminal activities.
